Professional Experience

Studying programming languages

11/2023 – present | Pregnana Milanese, Italy
During the past years, I watched from time to time some computer science and programming videos, but I never really learned to code.

In the past few months, I started coding different programming languages such as HTML, CSS, and JavaScript and then went to Sass and Bootstrap & React.

- Proficient with Git and GitHub.
- Bundler: Webpack and Vite
- Back-end: Nodejs, ExpressJS & MongoDB
- Familiarity with Typescript & jQuery

Build databases on Notion, play football., Improving my programming skills.

I hired a virtual assistant and taught her a few things about the business to help me manage repetitive tasks, speak with freelancers, etc... every step of the Ebook creation was delegated to a specific freelancer, so for example, the cover was made by a designer, the description was made by a copywriter, and so on...

We were creating multiple books at a time so this implied hiring different freelancers and teaching them our standards, staying in touch, and making sure the final delivery was good.

I moved to Dubai in April 2021, after I moved I stopped producing new books because I focused on transforming my life and building systems with Notion, and studied more about Start-up, Cryptocurrency, and Web3.
